Melbourne Poche Centre’s
International Indigenous Health 3MT
Call For Abstracts

Open to all Indigenous PhD candidates in their final two years, from universities across the globe who are researching in health.

Submit your 250 word abstract to be selected into the final 15 students to compete for cash prizes.

Abstracts close Monday 5 October 2020.

Finalists will be required to submit a pre-recorded presentation, 3 minutes in duration prior to the live event.

An esteemed panel of international judges (TBC) will provide feedback to presenters and adjudicate on the best three presentations for the prizes.

Based in the Faculty of Medicine, Dentistry and Health Sciences at the University of Melbourne, the Melbourne Poche Centre for Indigenous Health has a transformative strategic goal to create academic pathways for Indigenous early career researchers. This 3MT will be held to an international audience with international Indigenous PhD students sharing their research.
